INSPECTIONS

- 1. District Registrar's inspection: By section 68 of the Indian Registration Act, the District Registrar of the district is invested with powers of superintendence and control over the Sub-Registrars in his district and to enable him to exercise such supervision and control in an efficient manner, it is essential that he should examine the registers and other records of the sub-registration offices as often as possible.  - (2) Whether all the documents registered were duly stamped?
 - (3) Whether the documents had been copied into their proper register books, and whether the registering officer had jurisdiction to register them?
 - (4) Whether the document was brought within time and was presented by a person entitled to do so, and whether the endorsement of presentation prescribed in section 52 of the Act was correctly recorded?

- (7) In cases of refusal to register, whether the reasons of such refusal have been clearly recorded in book No. II and are sufficient?
- (8) Whether copies and memoranda received for registration from other offices are duly filed in the file book No. I, and are properly numbered?
- (9) Whether the descriptions entered in book No. VI relating to authenticated powers-of-attorney, show that authority was given to present documents for registration, and in the case of special power, the offices where such powers were intended to be used? 4. Examination of indexes and subsidiary books: Besides the registers, the indexes and other subsidiary books and records will require attention. The chief points to be looked into are:

(1) Whether the current indexes are clearly written and brought up-to-date. A few index entries here and there should be tested to see that these have been correctly prepared? It should also be seen that the indexes of the past years have been properly bound. (2) As to the fees book, whether the entries correspond with the registers, and whether the daily collections are promptly paid into the treasury. (3) The receipt books should be examined to see whether the prescribed procedure has been carried out, and whether there has been any undue delay in returning documents after registration. Each inspection note after the first should open, with a statement as to the action taken on the last inspection note, and with a reference to points, if any, on which instructions made given or suggestion have been overlooked or misunderstood.

9. The neglect of instructions contained in inspection notes renders the official at fault liable to punishment. The Sub-Registrars and the registration clerks should bear this in mind that serious notice will be taken of the repetition of the same kind of mistakes. They, therefore, must familiarize themselves with the contents of inspection notes very carefully.

10. The Inspecting Officers may also enquire as to the following points:

But it must be clearly understood that these questions are not intended to be exhaustive, and that the inspection may, and should, extend to any matters not included therein into which it may appear necessary to enquire.
- 22. Form of report: The report will be drawn up in the form of answers to the prescribed questions. Each question answered will be cited by its numbers only. The seals of offices permanently closed shall be destroyed in the same manner. All new seals, whether for newly created offices, or to replace those which have become unfit for use, shall be supplied on application from the office of the Inspector General. Care should be taken to produce a distinct and legible impression, and for this purpose, the use of a pad and good ink should be insisted upon.

- 84. A stock book of forms will be kept in every office in form No. 17, Appendix I.

Reference from Sub-Registrars

- 85. District Registrars to dispose of references from Sub-Registrars: District Registrars should, as far as possible, themselves dispose of references from Sub-Registrars, and should not transmit them to the Inspector General unless his orders are really required. This caution is necessary because a great proportion of the references that reach the Inspector General's office are on points which have already been distinctly provided for and should have been disposed of in the District Registrar's office, but where a point of law or of procedure not already provided for is raised, or where the question is one of general application, the district registrar should refer it for orders by means of a letter which should fully state the case, and the district Registrar's opinion thereon.
